R. SIGNIFICANT PERSON(S) 1. 2. 3.				T. SIGNIFICANCE 690 Highland is a one story streamlined brick house. A pyramidal roof tops the home which is the original configuration. A wide entablature spans the roof line. A massive brick chimney dominates the front façade. An angular entryway is in the center of the façade. Originally, this was a porch surrounded by two half walls that have since been filled in. The double doors of this entrance are surrounded by square side lights. Two double hung windows are on each side of the door. The two windows, along with the door, are covered by metal awnings. The right side of the house has another entrance door. There is a large picture window next to this door. The picture window is covered by an awning. The left side of the house has a bricked in porthole window.

1.					Two and a half story brick house, painted white; rectangular with a moderately pitched shingle roof and side gables. There is a two-story side wing on the west side, with a flat roof, and a chimney offset left. Three steps up to a central brick stoop and double plank door with bay windows on either side, double-hung sash; center windows are 8/1, side windows are 4/1. There is a second-floor balcony with wrought iron railings, but no door; a flat eave extends over the balcony. Three double-hung sash windows, 8/1, with wooden shutters. Windows on the south wall are similar. Windows on the west wing have metal awnings over them. A section of the south wall is extended eastward to a short column, concealing a basement entrance. To the rear is a garage, also of white brick, with wrought iron railing above the door.

R. SIGNIFICANT PERSON(S) 1. 2. 3.			T. SIGNIFICANCE A one and a half story residence with a steeply-pitched roof with a cross gable and a smaller gable over the doorway exemplify the Tudor Revival style. This residence has multi-paned windows flanked by plank shutters and a central round arched door with decorative wood carving and sidelights. The tall chimney sits between the main gable and a lower continuation of the gable end. Behind the southwest corner of the house sits a detached garage that mimicks the decorative wood paneling on the gable ends.
