Any Other Comments or Observations:

This one is a wild guess. Namberings in directory are not consistent.

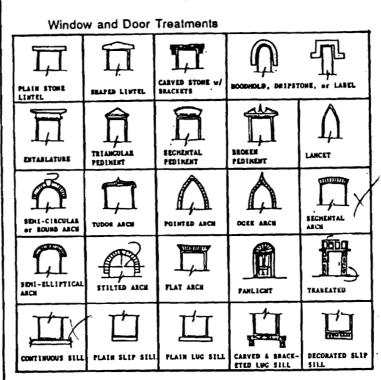

First regular listings at this address are in 1919 when Gorman Motor is listed here. his bedy Hotel occupies upper floor. The right side of the doublewide building seems to have been there first. It's not until 1922 that there is an address for that side - Jophin Querall Co. Color variations in the brick at the middle Seem to indicate the middle Seem to indicate an addition also. Windows on north side are arched & look earlier than those on south So my guess - 118-120 section built about 1918; then 124 section built about 1921, But I wouldn't sween it in court. 15.

New station

A MA

11-9-84

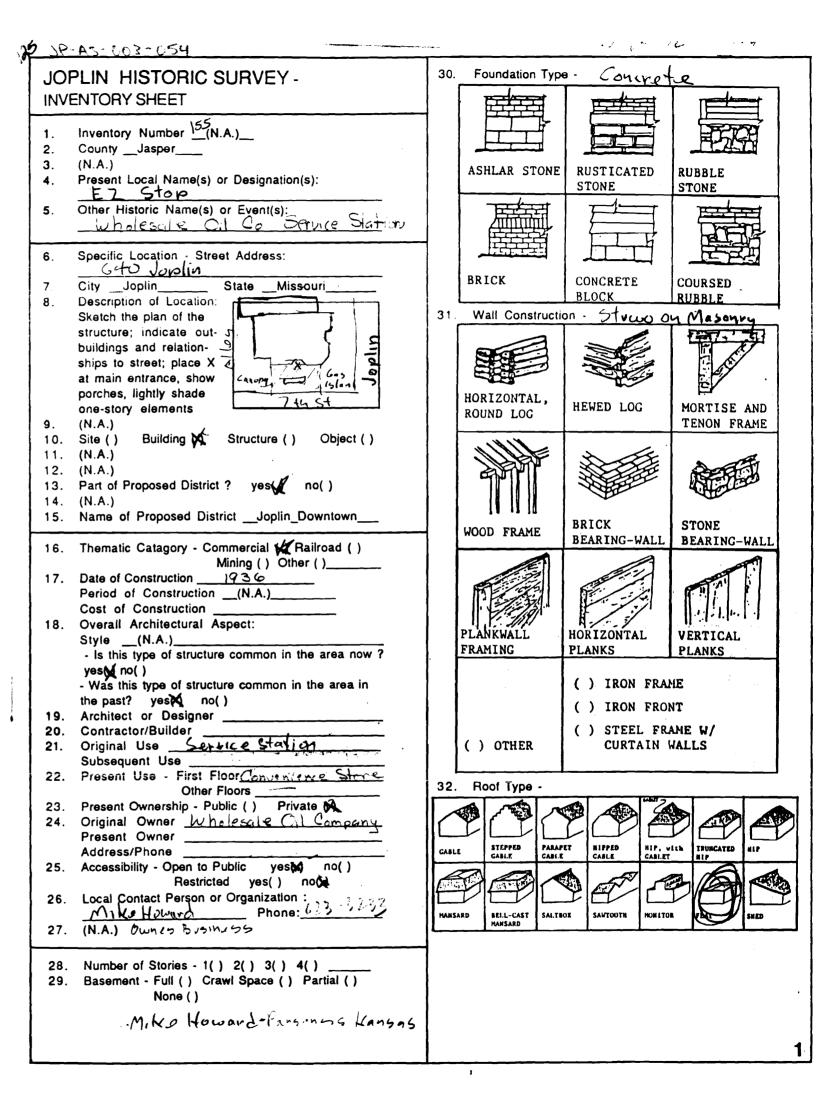

Convience store type.

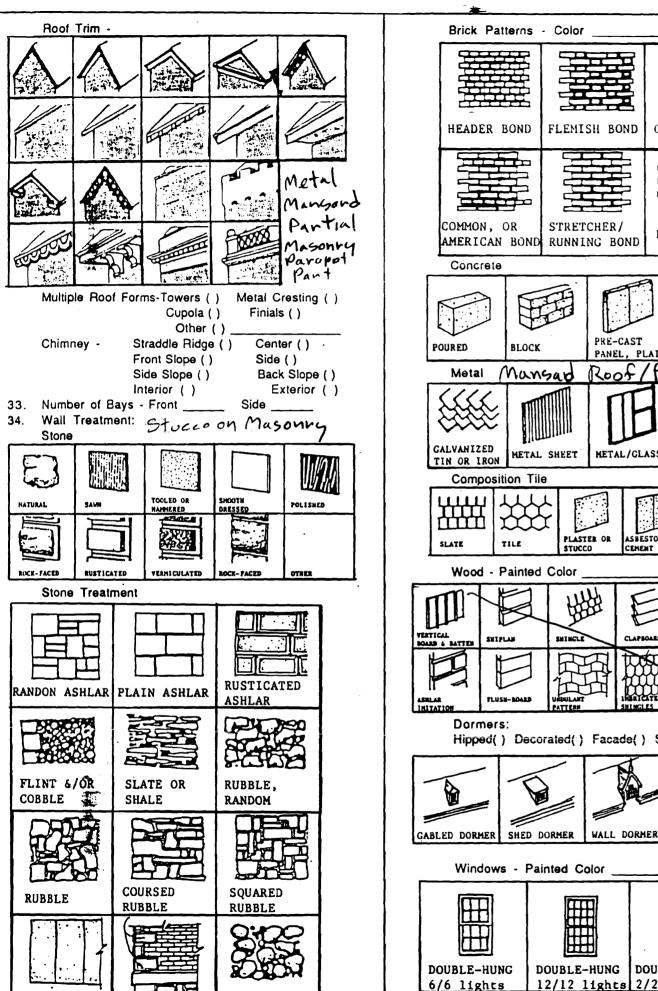

A new service station that introduced some unique features was opened in downtown Joplin in November, 50 years ago. In a story about the new station, The Joplin Globe stated:

"Offering speedy service, quality products and a great variety of merchandise both for motor cars and in the line of household equipment, the new service station of the Wholesale Oil Company at the northwest corner of Seventh and Joplin streets will be formally opened for business today. 'Bargain prices will be a regular policy,' the company announced, 'and a special sale, lasting a week, will celebrate the opening today.'

"The station is unique both in size — 12 cars can be serviced with gasoline at the same time — and in the stock of electrical kitchen equipment and other household articles carried in stock. The counters, display racks and show windows of the station building are supplemented by 'island merchandisers,' glassed-in display cases set between the gasoline pumps."

The MOST obscene sacrilize of them all The Micloney building was once sprins grandest structure. It had cut climestone dring of finial topped towns. Absolutely wonderful (see old photo). Have changed to Columbian Block in 1898 in honor of Columbian Exposition in Chicago.  The dastardly deed was perpetrated about 1930 when Kassabs moved their "Oriental Shop" there. They we moved the front & replaced with present cycsore, Incidently trassabs has since desecrated other historic bruildings at 506-510 Main. of their they deserve some kind of insutting award.
