T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. Water was turned on in 1909. The 1914 Atlas indicates that the lot belonged to Bird (no preceding initials). The house, without a house address, appears on the 1924 Sanborn map. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. The front porch was altered and the rear addition constructed post-1924. This address is not listed in the 1929 or 1945-49 telephone directories. Willie B. and Sylvia L. Grimes lived at this address from approximately 1954-88.

2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a three-quarter-length porch centered on the main facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by four turned columns on slender square wood posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A small chimney is located slightly off-center to the west in the crest of the roof line. There is a rear addition, also with asbestos siding.

2Y. Located on a moderate sized lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a one car, front gable garage to the east.

T. This house is located in the Corbin Place Addition, which was platted in 1888. Water was turned on at this address in 1923. Filmore Kephart lived at this address in 1929. George Elliott, and later Paul Pariter, took out water permits for this address, possibly during the 1930s (their names were not listed in telephone directories from the 1940s through the 1960s). This address also did not appear in the 1945 or '49 telephone directories. It is not known when the stucco was applied or the rear additions were constructed. However, the house retains its basic vernacular form. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, stucco siding, a side-gable roof, and a small, patio porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the east facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays and flanked by decorative shutters. 2Y. 	Follette, House	Clay	415 Ford

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. It is located on a lot owned by Follette (no preceding initials) in the 1914 Atlas. Water was turned on in the residence in May 1920, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 403. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. W. A. Vervalen lived in the house from 1929 through at least 1949, and Lester Vervalen from approximately 1954-58.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district. A privacy fence encloses the rear yard, which contains a wood gazebo and satellite dish.

	Lee, House	Clay	421 Ford

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. The lot belonged to Lee (no preceding initials) in 1914. The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 405. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. The water was turned on in 1944. Roy Reed lived at the house in 1929, and Walter M. and Opal E. Archer lived there from approximately 1949-69. The porch has been replaced sometime within the last twenty years. The house was at one time probably identical to three of its neighbor, which may have all been constructed at the same time.

2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch set within the "L" on the east end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by turned wooden posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows flanked by decorative shutters are set in the outer bays. The front gable wall is covered in decorative wood shingles, which also contains a jig-sawn verge board. There are paired brackets under the gable end returns.

2Y. Located on a moderate sized lot in a residential district. There is a wood privacy fence around the rear yard.

	Beswick, House	Clay	435 Ford

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1914 the lot belonged to Beswick (no preceding initials). The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 417. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on in February 1924, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. Glenn K. Arnold lived at this address in 1945. George and Elva W. Honeycutt lived at this address from approximately 1956-66. Mr. Honeycutt was a mechanic for Henry Stanley, Inc. The rear (southeast) porch removed and replaced with a room addition post-1924. The house was at one time probably identical to three of its neighbor, which may have all been constructed at the same time.

2Y. Located on a moderate sized lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1914 the lot was part of a larger lot belonging to Dorsett (no preceding initials). The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 421. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on 1933, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. W.J. Silvius lived at the house in 1929, and Shirley P. and Ruth Bush lived there through at least 1945-77. 2X. This L-shaped, one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof, and a one-half-length porch on the north end of the east facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by large square wood posts. The main entrance is located in the far east bay on the main facade. Double-hung windows with entablature surrounds fenestrate the first and second stories of the west bay's gable wall. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The water permits show that water was turned on at this residence in 1912, but the style of the house indicates an estimated construction date of 1920. The 1914 Atlas shows a unnamed lot for this address. According to the telephone directories, W.W. Cosby and Jack Massey lived at this address in 1929, and George R. and Alice J. Crockett lived here from approximately 1945-94. Mr. Crockett died in approximately the 1950s, and; Alice (a secretary at TWA) and Mary K. Crockett (probably a daughter) continued to live here after his death. The house is virtually intact from its historic appearance.

2X. This one-story bungalow has a concrete foundation, narrow clapboard siding, and a side-gable roof which extends over the full length porch on the main facade. The porch roof is supported by four square posts on concrete block piers. Lattice work shields the area under the porch from view. The entrance to the porch is located on the south side, and the main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A low-pitched shed roof dormer with a ribbon of three, small double-hung windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. A similar band of windows are located in the apex of the gable wall on the south facade and a shed roof tripartite bay extends from the center of the south facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot on the south edge of a residential district among homes of similar construction. It is just north of downtown, and the Mormon jail is to the east.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1920. The current resident, Sam Houston, was First District city councilman from 1975 to 1993 and the only African-American to ever serve on the city council. He is the retired owner of Sam Houston's Custodial Service and an ancestor of the Houstons that settled in Clay County in 1844, a prominent African-American family in Liberty. His wife Mary worked as a legal secretary before retiring. According to the owner, the original front porch, which covered three-fourths of the front of the house, was removed and replaced by the current awning in 1983.

2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos and permastone siding, a pyramidal roof and a three-quarter length awning porch on the main facade. The permastone siding extends from the ground up one-third of the main facade only. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. A large picture window is flanked by small double-hung windows in the north bay, and a larger double-hung window is set in the south bay. A gable wall dormer, with a small double-hung window flanked by shutters in its center, faces out from the main facade. A shed roof dormer with paired double-hung windows faces south. There are additions and a deck porch to the rear.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a garage with drive on the south side of the property.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. It is the boyhood residence of Sam Houston, First District city councilman from 1975 to 1993 and the only African-American to ever serve on the city council. Charles (and Sam) Houston are descended from the Houstons that settled in Clay County in 1844, a prominent African-American family in Liberty. Water was turned on at this address in 1945. Alice Byrd, the widow of Albert Byrd and daughter of Charles Houston, lived at this address from approximately 1958-94. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. A former resident believes that the rear additions were made in the 1940s.

2X. This L-plan, one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal and wood siding, a intersecting gable roof and a full length porch supported by iron posts. The main entrance is set in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the north, central and south bays. An addition on the south end has a gable roof, and is set back from plane of the main facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The yard has chain link fencing, and there is a large pine tree in the southeast corner.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. A smaller structure than the current house appears on the 1924 Sanborn map. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1920. Roger E. and Mattie L. Hines lived at this address from approximately 1963-94. Mr. Hines owned Roger Hines Hauling Co.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A steel railing runs the length of the property atop a three foot high concrete wall near the street. A small garage is reached by a drive on the north side of the property.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. It serves as the parsonage for the First Baptist Mt. Zion Church. The address has evidently changed over the years: water permits note that water was turned on at the parsonage at 332 N. Gallatin (Tract D) in 1910. A church history states that the parsonage was built in the 1890s. In spite of siding alterations, it retains much of its integrity. The present minister and his wife, Rev. R.E. and Sarah Miller, have lived here for over thirty years. 2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch on the south end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by original turned spindle posts; the wood balustrade is recent. The main entrance is centrally located within the crook of the "L". Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. 	First Baptist Church	Clay	336 N. Gallatin

T. This structure is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The First Baptist Mt. Zion Church was organized in 1874 by Rev. William Brown, who at the time was in his late teens. Prior to 1874, the African-American Baptist and Methodist congregations worshipped together at various locations in Liberty, including a barn on Missouri Street and an African-American school on the site of the current Garrison School. The Baptist members purchased the present lot on N. Gallatin and constructed a church in approximately 1874. This building was destroyed by fire and the present building constructed in 1915. The church was built by the men of the congregation; five gallon lard cans were used as forms for the concrete pillars, and members donated scrap metal, such as iron beds, to serve as reinforcing bars. Several additions have been made to the church. The most recent is the educational wing and baptistery, added in 1986.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district. Single family homes are located on either side of the property and a large paved parking lot is to the rear.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. There are no water permits for this address; 338 does not show up until the 1988 city directory, when Frederick and Erica Slaughter were residents. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. The house is currently owned and rented out by the First Baptist Mt. Zion Church next door. In the 1980s (until 1986) this house was used as a Sunday School meeting place until the church's educational wing was added. The rear section was added at an unknown date; the porch was added in approximately the 1920s.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The First Baptist Church is adjacent to the south.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The water was turned on at this address in 1910. Perry Monroe lived at this residence in 1949. Opal Kidd (widow of Thomas H. Kidd) lived at this address from approximately 1955-69.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A steel railing runs the length of the property atop a four foot high concrete wall near the street

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The house was moved from City Block 40 (probably from a site on S. Prairie) to its present location in 1939 to make room for the construction of Franklin Elementary School. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. S. Howard and Ella Murray lived at this address from approximately 1954-94. Mr. Murray owned Murray Refrigeration Service. The front porch was added in approximately the 1920s.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A wide, gable-front garage is located behind the property on the south side.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on at this address in 1913. On the 1914 Atlas this lot was listed as being owned by Stephenson (no preceding initials). From approximately 1945-63 this address was the residence of "Professor" James A. Gay (1882-1985), his wife Ethel, and their three children. He was a graduate of Lincoln University in Jefferson City, Missouri, and moved to Liberty in 1910. He taught at the Old Rock Church, located near the current Garrison School, until it burned in approximately 1911. Gay served as the principal of Garrison School for twenty-two years and has been credited for suggesting that the school be named for the abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison. He tutored William Jewell college students in Latin and Greek and taught night school to local African-Americans on his own time. Gay also served as Educational Advisor for the Civilian Conservation Corps, which was stationed at William Jewell College from 1933-42. Gay was one of very few African-Americans to hold an administrative position in this organization.

2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a front-gable roof and three-quarter length gable-front porch. The porch roof is supported by three rounded columns resting on concrete block piers. The main entrance is located in the north bay of the main facade and a double-hung window is set in the south bay. A small vent is set in the attic story of the main facade's gable wall. Paired double-hung windows are centered in the gable wall of the second story, main facade, and a gable dormer is located in the center of the south facade's roof line. An exterior brick chimney raises from the ground, through the roof line and above the dormer on the south facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is on an outlet in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. On the 1914 Atlas this lot was listed as being owned by Tibbs (no preceding initials). The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. The address of 421 did not show up in city directories from 1963-88. 2X. This small, L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch on the south end of the main facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by turned wooden posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. There is a shed-roof addition (unknown construction date) to the rear. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on at this address in 1931. Long-time residents say that John and Hazel Black operated a grocery store and restaurant out of their home in the 1930s. Mr. Black was also a watchman at Spencer-Kellogg. After Mr. Black died, Mrs. Black resided at this address until her death in 1987.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A three foot high concrete wall extends the length of the property.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1950. James A. and Mary L. Brooks lived at this address from 1961-94. Mrs. Brooks says that the house was built in 1961. Mr. Brooks was a warehouseman for George Bedings Furniture. 2X. This one-story, four bay home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a side-gable roof and half-length porch located on the south end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by three turned posts. The main entrance is located in the south-central bay and is flanked by decorative shutters. Single, double-hung windows flanked by shutters fenestrate the north, north-central and south bays. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. Brooks, Mary. T. This house is located in the Corbin Place Addition, which was platted in 1888. Water was turned on at this address in 1911, but property type suggest the building dates from at least ca. 1900. James and Winifred Carlyle lived here from approximately 1949-62. Mr. Carlyle died in the 1950s. 2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch on the south end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by two turned wood spindle posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. Small vents are set in the apexes of the gable walls. A wrap-around back porch and addition are attached to the rear of the property. 2Y. T. This house is located in what the city legal descriptions call a City Block. The facade of this house is said to conceal a log cabin. John H. Burnett lived at this residence from approximately the 1900s-30s. Ray D. and Nora Best lived here from approximately 1945-77. An abstract in the county assessor's office indicates that part of this lot contained a "colored school" in approximately 1929. The building style is hard to discern because of the more recent facade, but the original building may predate the Civil War period. It is one of only three known buildings of log construction in Liberty, all of which have been covered with later siding.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in the Corbin Place Addition, which was platted in 1888. Water was turned on at this address in 1915. Frank W. and Anna G. Saunders lived here from at least 1929-69. Mr. Saunders was an operator for the CB & Q Railroad.

2Y. Located on a small corner lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A gravel drive leads under the carport, where the parking pad is supported by a railroad tie retaining wall.

T. This house is located in the Corbin Place Addition, which was platted in 1888. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. Eugene Brittain lived at this address in 1945, and LaVerne R. and Audrey L. White lived here from approximately 1949-65. Mr. White was a laborer at Cook Paint & Varnish.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a gable roof shed with board & batten siding at the rear of the lot.

T. This building is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The lot was empty in 1913. A small repair shop was located on lot G according to the 1924 Sanborn map, and the ice plant was located on Lot I only; by 1941 the complex had expanded north into lot G and included an ice storage building, an oil engine and ice machinery building. The current building was listed as 127-131-133 on the updated 1951 Sanborn map. This building originated as the Liberty Ice and Cold Storage Co. By 1960, approximately the last year the company was in operation, the address listed the Liberty Ice Co. and the Liberty Locker Co. In the 1960s Portwood Auto Service was listed at 129 S. Gallatin (presumably at what is now 121), and Bill Wicklund Body Shop was listed by 1975 (in 1994 it was called Wicklund's Carstar Collision Repair). 2X. This large, two-story commercial building has metal and clapboard siding, a flat roof and a small shed roof porch. The main entrance is located in the west bay of the north facade. The northern portion of the building is a metal multi-bay garage. The rear portion of the building is wood with small rectangular windows across the second story of the north facade. 2Y. Located on a large lot in a commercial area among buildings of similar construction. A school is to the west. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. City Building Permits, Liberty, Missouri, City Hall (microfilm copies). T. This house is located in Arnold's Addition, which was platted in 1886. Water was turned on at this address in 1951. A water permit was taken out at an unknown date by W.N. Cuthbertson, a white instructor at William Jewell who owned and rented out a number of houses in Liberty (his or his wife's name appears on several water permits). Rosalie Weston took out a water permit at a later, undetermined date. The building style suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. With its off-centered doorway, it is a unusual [for this survey district] variation of the more numerous hall-and-parlor and double-pen houses. 2X. This small, one-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a small, front gable porch set on the north bay of the main facade. The main entrance is centered in the south bay of the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the center and north bays and are flanked by decorative shutters. A small metal chimney is centered in the roof line. A small shed roof addition extends to the rear. 2Y. 	Bird, Cornelius, House	Clay	442 N. Grover
T. This house is located in M.B. Brown's Subdivision, which was platted in 1887. Water was turned on at this address in 1931. Cornelius Bird lived at this address during approximately the 1930s-40s. Bird was a well-known greenhouse owner. Many Liberty residents, both black and white, patronized his business. According to a local historian, Bird was one of, if not the first, African-American to be the subject of an (highly complimentary) editorial by the Liberty Tribune, and to rate more than a three-line obituary when he died. The Smiths (Lawrence W., a laborer at Ford Motor, and his wife Bessie) lived at this address from approximately 1954-69. The house was used as a meeting place for the Liberty Masonic Lodge from approximately 1975-88. It is not know whether the stucco siding is original; the house may therefore retain integrity from its historic period of significance. 2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, stucco siding, a side-gable roof and a small, awning porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the east facade. Paired, double-hung windows are set on the south bay and a narrower, double-hung window is centered in the north bay. There are two rear additions; one with wood siding in disrepair. 2Y. This house is located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A small, gable-front garage or shed is located behind the property. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located on an outlot. The Hendersons (Johnnie F., a laborer for the Wabash Railroad, and his wife Lillie) lived at this address from approximately 1945-83. No other records could be found for this address. The present appearance of the building suggests an estimated construction date of 1940, although alterations may have changed the appearance of an earlier structure.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a small clapboard shed to the rear.

T. This house is located in Arnold's Addition, which was platted in 1886. No water permits exist for this address; it may have had another address at one time. The Halls (James D., a dishwasher at the Dinner Bell Cafe, and his wife Margaret) lived at this address from approximately 1956-75. The house style suggests a conservative estimated construction date of 1900. Prior to alterations, it may have been identical at one time to its neighbor adjoining on the north.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. This home is nearly identical to 504 N. Grover. There is a vacant lot to the south, which adjoins a small commercial area on the north side of downtown.

T. This house is located on an outlot. No water permits could be found for this address. The Thatchers (John D. and his wife Edith) lived here in 1963-64. The building style suggests an estimated construction date of 1890. It is one of several double-pen vernacular housing types in the survey district.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1914 this lot comprised the north half of a larger lot owned by Dorsett (no preceding initials). Water was turned on in August 1909. The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 200. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. Residents at this address include Mrs. J.A. Pfeister in 1929, Jerry Ralls and D.P. Muxlow in 1945, and Modenia Ralls in 1949. By 1963 this residence had been divided into eight apartments (seven by 1988).

2X. This large, irregularly shaped two-and-one-half story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a cross-gable roof with returns and full porch. The main entrance is located slightly off-center on the main facade. The wide porch's flat roof is supported by a combination of tapered square and round wooden columns. Double-hung windows of varying sizes and combinations are located at varying heights throughout all facades. A two-story square tripartite bay projects from the northeast corner. A wide plain cornice band is accentuated by paired brackets at some ends.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. Water was turned on in October 1907. According to the 1914 Atlas the lot belonged to Wilson (no preceding initials) and had not been subdivided into east and west lots. The rear (southeast) porch enclosed post-1924. The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 211. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. Residents of this house include H.A. Ormsby in 1929, and Julius and Hanna Aggen from approximately 1945-69.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. Water was turned on in September 1912. According to the 1914 Atlas, the lot belonged to Whiteside (no preceding initials). The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 215. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. C.W. and Mary Woolfolk lived at this address from approximately 1929-65. Mrs. Woolfolk lived here alone from 1955 on.

2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, stucco siding, a side-gable roof and a small, gable-front porch centered on the main facade. The porch roof is supported by two rounded columns, and a small vent is located in the apex of the gable peak. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Tall, narrow double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays and are flanked by decorative shutters. Exposed rafters are visible under the eaves throughout. There is a rear gable roof addition.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. The water was turned on in November 1909. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was owned by O. Williams. The house address appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 227. This section of Liberty was not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. The southeast bay was added post-1924. John D. Walker lived in this residence in 1945, and Royal R. Richardson in 1949. Lawrence C. and Crystal Cox lived at the residence from approximately 1963-77. In the 1980s this residence was divided into three apartments. Except for the siding alteration, the house retains many other original architectural features.

2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half-length porch on the south end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by four square wooden posts. The main entrances are centrally located at angles to each other in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays, the north window having a stained glass upper sash. Decorative verge board is seen in both gable peaks. A flat roofed oriel bay is located on the south facade and a gable-walled addition projects from the SE corner. Paired bracket are seen under the eaves. Paired brackets are under the roof eaves of the front and side bays.

2Y. Located on a moderate sized lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot is numbered but bears no name. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1920. It is present on the 1924 Sanborn Map as two different addresses: what appears to be 120 and another, undecipherable number. This portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on at 114 Lincoln Street in September 1930, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1920. Dent and Beulah Moore were residents at this address from approximately 1960-94. Mr. Dent was a clerk at United Co-op.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a small shed to the rear of the lot.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. On the 1914 Atlas the lot bears the name O.L. Lee. This northern section of Lincoln Street is not shown on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. Water was turned on at 115 Lincoln Street on September 1930, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. H.A. Power lived at this residence in 1945-46, and Grover C. and Ruth Boyer were residents from approximately 1954-58. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a pyramidal roof, and a three-quarter-length porch. The porch's flat roof is supported by four rounded columns on a stone pier foundation. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the south on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. 2Y. Located on a corner lot in a residential district at the edge of a commercial/light industrial area. A chain-link fence surrounds the back yard and runs the length of the property on the north. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. 	Fuqua, House	Clay	118 Lincoln

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. The 1914 Atlas shows that the lot for what is now 118 Lincoln Street was owned by Fuqua (no preceding initials). The house appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as what appears to be 126 and as another undecipherable address. This portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. The style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. The address does not appear in the 1929 telephone directory. Water was turned on at 188 Lincoln Street on September 1930. Lester C. and Coreen Henderson lived at this residence from at least 1945-81. Mrs. Henderson was widowed in the 1960s. She was a maid at William Jewell College.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was part of a larger lot owned by Jones (no preceding initials). Water permits show that water was turned on at 121 Lincoln Street in March 1914. The style of the house also suggests an estimated construction date of 1914. The house is listed as 129 Lincoln Street on the 1924 Sanborn map. This portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. I.W. Horner was a resident at this address in 1929, and Dawson Newman was a resident from at least 1945-49.

2X. This one-and-one-half-story bungalow has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a pyramidal roof, and a full porch. The main roof line extends over the porch and is supported by square tapered wood posts. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the south on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A hipped roof dormer with paired double-hung windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. A tripartite oriel bay projects from the south facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

The style of the house also suggests an estimated construction date of 1914. Norman Follett lived at 125 Lincoln in 1929, and D.E. Heard lived there in 1949.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A small gable front garage is located behind the property to the south.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. The 1914 Atlas indicates that this lot belonged to Barbour (no preceding initials). The water was turned on at 126 Lincoln Street in 1906, and the style of the house suggests that the house may have been constructed at that date. The house (Lot C) does not bear an address on the 1924 Sanborn map; this portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. The north bay, door, and staircase were added post-1924. The 126 Lincoln Street address does not appear in the 1929 or 1945 telephone directories. J.J. Gabbert lived in this house in 1949. The residence was divided into four apartments by 1977.

2X. This two-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a bell-cast irregular pyramidal roof, and wrap-around porch. The porch's hipped roof is supported by small, square wooden posts. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the north on the main facade. Double-hung windows fenestrate the outer bays of the first and second stories. A small, hipped roof bell-cast dormer is centered in the roof line of the main facade. A wooden staircase leads to a secondary entrance in an oriel bay on the second floor of the south facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A gravel drive leads to parking in the rear.

Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. This lot (C) appears on the 1914 Atlas as being in the northern part of the larger P.C. Pixlee lot. The house appears as 141 Lincoln on the 1924 Sanborn map. This portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. The style of the house indicates an earlier estimated construction date of 1910. Water was turned on at this address in February 1937. Rev. and Mrs. John H. Clark were the residents from approximately 1929-54. The house is virtually intact on the exterior from its time of construction. 2X. This two-story home has a limestone foundation, narrow clapboard siding, a hipped roof, and a three-quarter-length porch. The porch's hipped roof is supported by three battered posts resting on limestone piers. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the north on the main facade. Double-hung windows fenestrate the outer bays of the first and second stories. A shallow hipped roof dormer is centered in the roof line of the main facade. A secondary entrance with hipped porch is located on the south facade. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a drive to the side leading to parking in the rear. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, platted in 1870. In 1877 Lincoln Street did not yet bisect Arthur's Second Addition and the lots on either side of what is now Lincoln Street had not been subdivided. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot is owned by McNeely (no preceding initials). Because the address has varied over the years, it is hard to interpret historical data for this address. The house (Lot D) appears on the 1924 Sanborn map as 140 Lincoln Street; this portion of Liberty does not appear on earlier Sanborn maps. It is possible that the address may also have been 138 Lincoln Street at one time. Water permits show that water was turned on at the latter address in 1906. The style of the house indicates that it could have been constructed at this date. The water permits indicate that Mary Ella Jenkins lived at the residence at one time, but her name was not listed in telephone directories. This house had been divided into apartments by 1963. 2X. This two-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a bell-cast hipped roof, and a full porch. The porch's hipped roof is supported by four decorative iron posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows fenestrate the outer bays of the first and second stories. A small hipped-roof dormer is centered in the roof line of the main facade. Wood stairs at the rear lead to an upper story entrance. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The 28 x 30 bungalow was constructed at a cost of $2,700 in 1939 (the building permit was not numbered). Mrs. William E. (Mary K.) Hallissy (who was white) lived at this address from at least 1945-69. They may have been the original owners. Mrs. Hallissy was a representative for S.H. Camp & Co. 2X. This one-and-one-half story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a side-gable roof and a gable-front portico centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. The porch's roof is supported by square wooden posts. Double-hung windows with six-panel upper and lower sashes are centered in the outer bays and are flanked by decorative shutters. Small gable-front dormers with double hung windows are set in the outer bays of the upper story. A external brick chimney raised through the roof line on the south facade. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Hazel and China Slaughter have lived here for many years. Slaughter, now retired, was a long-time Buildings and Grounds Supervisor for the Liberty school district for forty-eight years, and was well-known for directing traffic near Franklin Elementary School for more than thirty years. He also organized the first black Boy Scout troop in Liberty. His parents, Anna and Isaac Slaughter, were early residents of Liberty. His mother Anna was chief dietician at the former Major Hotel in Liberty. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1950, and is representative of post-WWII construction. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a side-gable roof and a small, stoop porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Paired double-hung windows are centered in the south and south central bays and are flanked by decorative shutters. The north bay is set back from the main facade and has a large picture window flanked by small double-hung windows in its center. An external brick chimney is centered on the south facade. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The Sanborn maps show different houses in 1913 and 1924. The lot was owned by R.L. Stewart in 1914. Walter H. Moore lived at this address from approximately 1963-65. The rear porch was replaced by a room addition post-1924; otherwise the house remains nearly intact from its period of construction.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Sanborn maps show different houses in 1913 and 1924. Water was turned on at this address in 1939. This house was at one time owned by William Jewell College. David Jackson, retired, lived at this address from approximately 1959-69. The front (southeast) porch was made part of the house post-1924; an addition along the north length of the house was constructed post-1924. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, aluminum siding, a intersecting gable roof and stoop porch. The main entrance is located off-center to the south on the main facade. Paired, double-hung windows with six-panel upper sashes and a single pane window fenestrate the south bay, while double hung windows are centered in the central and north bays. The upper story, located in the north bay, has a gable wall covered in board and batten siding. There have been various additions and alterations to the house over the years, including additions to the rear. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a rolled wire fence along one side of the property, and a large cedar tree in the front yard. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This lot is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. This structure was torn down in March of 1995, before the completion of the survey. The style of the house suggested an estimated construction date of 1890. The building was demolished in the spring of 1995, after the photograph was taken. 2X. This very small, one-story home had a limestone foundation, clapboard siding, a front-gable roof and no porch. The main entrance was centrally located on the south facade. A second entrance was located in the shed roof addition to the south facade. A projecting tripartite bay with double-pane upper and lower sashes was centered in the gable wall of the main facade. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The lot was owned by Dale (no preceding initials) in 1914. Water was turned on at this address in 1921. Hazel and Clarence Gantt lived in this house at one time. Clarence E. Gantt was the first principal of Garrison School. George W. and Freda Smith lived at this address from approximately 1960-63. Mr. Smith was a driver for General Motors.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A front-gable two car garage is located behind the house on the south side, and a chain link fence along the south property line.

T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. Lot 14 at one time bore the address of 337. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was numbered but unnamed. Water was turned on at 337 in 1945, but the form of the house suggested an estimated construction date of 1915. Jesse E. and Beatrice Dodd lived at this residence from approximately 1954-88. Mr. Dodd worked at Michigan Cleaners. The house has had alterations which give it a non-historic appearance.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The lot was owned by Creek (no preceding initials) in 1914. Water was turned on this address in 1945. William Parker built the house, and was a resident from at least 1929 until his death in the 1930s. The house has remained in the family: daughters Nancy Ponder (who has since died) and Marie Mason (who currently lives in the house) continued to live in the house after Parker's death. The south entrance was added at an unknown date.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. Howell and Mary A. Houston lived at this address from approximately 1962-85. Mr. Houston was a janitor at First National Bank. The house is representative of post WWII construction.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The property is bounded on west and south by a chain link fence.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The lot was owned by Allen (no preceding initials) in 1914. Beginning in approximately 1963, this residence was for many years the home of Jamesetta S. and James V. Thomas. In 1971 Mr. Thomas, a paper handler for the Kansas City Star, became the first African-American to serve on the Clay County grand jury and on the Liberty School Board. Mrs. Thomas continued to live at the residence through 1994. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A steel railing separates the front of the property from the sidewalk and street.

T. This structure is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. The St. Luke A.M.E. congregation was organized by Rev. Jesse Mills in 1875 and the church building constructed in 1876. Previous worship sites included the courthouse, and, when that was no longer available, a horse barn at 102 E. Kansas, and the Old Rock School (now the site of Garrison School). The first services in the new church (the first A.M.E. church in Liberty) were held September 28, 1876. In 1917 Rev. William Alexander remodeled the church building after a fire. The church partially burned in 1934. By 1938 it had been restored by the Civilian Conservation Corps, and a new basement added. In the early 1940s Rev. A.G. Thurman drew up the plans for the present church and helped the congregation quarry the rock and construct the building by hand. Stone was quarried from the farm of Tom Greene, in north Liberty. He told the church they could have the stone if they would quarry it. The stone was hauled in trucks and then wheelbarrows to the church site, where the church women mixed mortar. Rev. Thurman did much of the mill work himself. The leaded glass windows were added at this time. The new building was dedicated 1942. In 1978 the structure was awarded Clay County Landmark status. The steeple was replaced in 1985 after it was hit by lightning. 2X. This two-story church has foundation and walls of quarry-faced, random-range ashlar limestone. There is a steeply pitched front-gable roof and small raised patio entry area. The main entrance is centered in the north tower bay on the main facade. There are double wood doors with a large glass block transom above, reached by concrete stairs with stone foundation and balustrade. A large, round arched stained glass window is located in the central bay of the first story, and smaller paired stained glass windows fenestrate the south bay of the main facade. An asbestos clad, square bell tower with pyramidal roof steeple is located on the northwest corner of the building. The tower had small 1/1 double-hung windows, wood vents, and small gable dormers above. Side windows on the first floor have flat brick arches, while basement windows have round stone arches. An interior brick chimney is on the north elevation. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district. There is a drive on the north side of the building, leading to an alley in the rear. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was numbered but unnamed. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1915. Juanita Bright (widow of John Bright) lived at this address from approximately 1963-88.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. On the 1914 Atlas is part of a lot covering the entire block, owned by Litchfield (no preceding initials). Stella E. and Bert McGinnis were residents from approximately 1954-94. Mr. McGinnis was a trash hauler. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. A water permit for 454 (listing it with the same legal description as for what is now 455) indicates that a permit was taken out in 1950, and that Bert McGinnis took out a permit at an undetermined date. The front porch was also enclosed at an undetermined date.

2Y. Located on a small lot, on a steep hill, in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. According to the 1914 Atlas, Stephenson (no preceding initials) owned this lot in 1914. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. Bessie L., widow of Carl Hines, lived at this address from approximately 1964-84. She was a saleswoman at Boggess Hardware. Wilma Hines (possibly a daughter), who worked as a nurse, lived at this address from 1984-94.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

	Bird, Otis, House	Clay	629 N. Main

T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. This residence was at one time the home of Otis and Laura Bird from approximately 1954-83. Mr. Bird, who was well-known throughout Liberty, was a cook at the former Liberty Ladies College and at William Jewell College. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1915.

2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a small, enclosed porch with a shed roof centered on the main facade. Four pairs of venetian windows fenestrate the enclosed porch. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows with double-pane upper and lower sashes are centered in the outer bays. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. There is a gable roof addition to the rear, and a smaller shed roof addition on the northeast corner of the house.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Willmott's Addition, which was platted in 1899. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. This address did not appear in the city directories except for 1963, when Rollie and Essie Humphrey were listed. According to a long-time resident, the Sanctified Church was renamed Humphrey Temple for Mr. Humphrey, who helped build the structure (then at 213 W. Shrader) in the 1920s.

2Y. Located on a large lot at the end of a gravel road which extends S. Main (First) street.

T. This house is located in Willmott's Addition, which was platted in 1899. The house was moved to this location at an undetermined date, probably in 1939 when other houses on S. Prairie were being moved to make room for the construction of Franklin Elementary School. The Craftsman-style porch may have been added at this time. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. It is a well-maintained, virtually intact example of a vernacular property type. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and a full length porch supported by five large wooden posts. The main roof line extends to form the porch roof. The area under the porch is shielded from view by latticework. The two main entrances are evenly spaced in the center of the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. 2Y. T. This house is located in Willmott's Addition, which was platted in 1899. The house was built by Billy Parker, a Baptist minister/carpenter. From approximately 1949-94 it was the residence of Eugene and Katie Brooks. Mr. Brooks was a janitor at National Commercial Bank, and Mrs. Brooks worked as a maid at Lucile Davis Apparel. Mrs. Brooks came to Liberty in 1903, and traveled worldwide as ambassador for the Kansas City Passport Club. In the 1930s she was instrumental in developing the first low-income African-American housing development in Liberty. Brooks Landing is located just south of the residence, and is named for her.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A gable front garage is located behind the property to the north. A chain-link fence surrounds the property.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot did not show an owner's name. No water permits were located for this address, and it was not listed in the 1929 or 1945-49 telephone directories. From 1964-84 Elijah (retired) and Helen Cuthbertson lived here. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of post-1945. 2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and no porch. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. A double-hung windows with triple-pane upper sash is centered in the west bay, and a large picture window flanked by smaller double hung windows is set in the east bay. A shallow gable wall dormer is centered on the main facade. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. 2Y. T. This house is located in Peter's Addition, which was platted prior to 1877. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was listed as belonging to Madson (no preceding initials; name is nearly illegible due to the frayed condition of the page). Water was turned on at this address in 1927, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. Mrs. T.M. Creek lived at this address from approximately 1929-56. The house remains a nearly intact example of a simple vernacular residential type. 2X. This one-story home has a limestone foundation, shiplap siding, a pyramidal roof and a small, shed roof porch supported by wooden posts is centered on the main facade. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the east on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. 2Y. T. This house is located in Peter's Addition, which was platted prior to 1877. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was listed as belonging to Hayes (no preceding initials). Water was turned on at this address in 1927, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. Mrs. Mary Burk lived at this address in 1929. Water permits were taken out by L.N. Hicks (date unknown) and then Glenn W. Jones, who lived at this residence in 1954-55.

2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch on the east end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by square wooden posts. The exterior walls sheltered under the porch have narrow clapboards. The main entrances are centrally located at angles to each other on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. There is a rear addition, also with asbestos siding.

2Y. The house is located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A wooden, one-car garage with a front gable roof is located to the east of the property.

PAGE NO. 1

REFERENCE NUMBER	A. HISTORIC NAME	B. COUNTY	C. ADDRESS
	238 W. Mississippi, House	Clay	238 W. Mississippi
T. This house is located in Morse's Addition, which was platted in 1884. Water was turned on at this address in 1919, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date from at least ca. 1900. Sherley E. and Sara Laffoon lived at this residence from approximately 1963-94. Mr. Laffoon was a bookkeeper for United Co-op Credit Union. This vernacular housing type was found throughout Liberty, but particularly on main roads leading into the town. Although altered with additions and probably a siding change, the front porch is historic. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a limestone foundation, clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and a wrap-around porch which extends around the southeast corner. The porch's flat roof is supported by turned spindle posts. The main entrance is centrally located on the south facade and is protected by a multi-paned, wooden storm door. A double-hung window is centered in the west bay on the first story. A clipped gable dormer is centered in the west bay and a steeply pitched gable wall dormer is centered in the central bay. To the rear are two additions with narrower clapboard siding. 2Y. This house is located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The house appears on the 1924 Sanborn map; previous Sanborn maps did not cover this section of S. Missouri. The water was turned on in 1924, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. The southeast porch was enclosed post-1924. Fred and Sarah Glendenning lived at this address from approximately 1954-77. 2X. This large, two-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, irregular low-pitched hipped roofs, and wraparound porch. The main entrance is centrally located on the north facade. The porch wraps around the northeast corner and its roof is supported by turned wooden posts decorated with jig-sawn millwork. Single, double-hung windows are evenly spaced throughout the home. There are two hipped roof additions on the side, both with asbestos siding. 2Y. Located on a small corner lot in a residential district. 	Cravens, House	Clay	224 S. Missouri

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. On the 1914 Atlas the lot belonged to Cravens (no preceding initials). The house appears on the 1924 Sanborn map; previous Sanborn maps did not cover this section of S. Missouri. The water was turned on in 1915. The wrap-around front porch was altered at the south end post-1924. Leonard and G. and Lucile Hards lived at this address from approximately 1954-74.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A chain-link fence surrounds the property.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. This section of Pine Street was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. This address first appears in the 1984 city directory, with Doris Jones, a cook for Clay County, as resident. No water permits were found for this address. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1920. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a side-gable roof and a three quarter length porch centered on the main facade. The porch's flat metal roof is supported by decorative iron posts. The main entrance is located just off-center to the east on the main facade. A double-hung window is located in the west bay and a large picture window is set in the east bay. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. There have been at least two gable roof additions to the rear, both with clapboard siding. 2Y. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. The 1924 Sanborn map shows an empty lot. Water was turned on at this address in 1946, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. George J. Ross lived at this address from approximately 1963-65. The building has been much altered from its original appearance.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A front gable garage with clapboard siding is located to the west of the property. There is a wood privacy fence around the yard.

T. This house is located in Petty's Addition, which was platted in 1889. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. Water was turned on at this address in 1910. The porch extending across the full front of the house was replaced post-1924, and the rear porch in the southeast corner was made part of the house post-1924. James E. and Marjorie Bratcher lived at this address for approximately 1950-63. Mr. Bratcher was a maintenance man for Standard Steel. The house is a well maintained example of late Victorian residential architecture, and is one of the few in the survey district with original detailing intact. 2X. This T-shaped, one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, an intersecting gable roof and a small hipped roof porch located in the "L" on the main facade. The porch roof is supported by a single round wood column. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Paired double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. The gable end walls have in decorative patterned wood shingles. There are paired brackets on the wide cornice board under the projecting eaves. A gable wall bay extends from the center of the west facade. The rear shed roof porch has been enclosed with clapboard. 2Y. T. This house is located in Petty's Addition, which was platted in 1889. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. The water was turned on in April 1914. The house is shown on the 1924 Sanborn map; this section of Liberty was not covered on earlier Sanborn maps. The porch extending across the full front of the house was replaced post-1924; a rear (southeast) room was added post-1924. Harve Baker, and by 1945 Miss Linnie C. Baker only, lived in the house from approximately 1929-65. The house retains some of its original late Victorian detailing.

T. This house is located in Petty's Addition, which was platted in 1889. The water was turned on at this address in 1912. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. The front (northwest) projection and the east bay were added post-1924; the wrap-around front porch was replaced post-1924. Harry R. Corum, a mechanic, lived at this address in 1945, and Harold B. and Hazel G. Shelby lived at this address in 1954. One of the few remaining late Victorian residences in the survey district which retains original architectural detailing. 2X. This large two-story home has a limestone foundation, aluminum siding, and cross gable roofs set on a steeply pitched pyramidal roof. A small, one bay porch has a gable front roof which is supported by large square posts. The main entrance is located in the east bay of the main facade. Double-hung windows flanked by shutters fenestrate the first and second stories of the projecting gable wall on the main facade. Two story gable wall bays project from the east and west facades. Dentils are on the second story cornice line. A brick chimney raises above the roof line in the center of the roof. There is a mansard roof bay on the east side on the first story, and a wood, shed roofed awning with decorative lattice and finials covering a second story window above. 2Y. T. This house is located in Adkin's Addition, which was platted in 1881. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. Water permits are inconclusive for this address, but the style of the house indicate an estimated construction date of 1900. The front porch was added post-1924. Mrs. Madge Elliott lived at this address from approximately 1954-79. Of the numerous examples of small, vernacular housing types in the survey district, this building is one of the rare intact representatives. 2X. This one-story home has a limestone foundation, narrow clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and a small, portico centered on the main facade. The porch's front gable roof is supported by two turned wooden posts with spindle frieze. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays, with original entablature surround. A small chimney is located to the west of center in the middle of the roof line. 2Y. T. This house is located in Petty's Addition, which was platted in 1889. The 1914 Atlas shows a numbered but unnamed lot at this address. The lot was empty on the 1924 Sanborn map. The water was turned on at this address in 1928. E.B. Duncan lived here in 1929, and Edith Weston from approximately 1945-60. Shelby L. and Faye Morrow lived here from at least 1963-69. Mr. Morrow was the city clerk.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A drive on the west leads to a basement garage.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. James A. and Lorena Houston are said to be the first residents of this house. City and telephone directories indicate that they lived here from at least 1963-88. Houston, a laborer at Englander Mattress, was a descendent of some of the Houstons that settled in Clay County in 1844, a prominent family in Liberty's African-American community. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1940. 2X. This L-plan, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a complex roof and a small, gable-front porch. The main entrance is centered under the porch, located just off-center to the north on the main facade. Paired, double-hung windows fenestrate the north, central and south bays. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water permits were not available for this address, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. Andrew J. Swader, retired, lived at this house from approximately 1963-69.

2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a small, shed roof porch set just off-center to the south on the main facade. The porch roof is supported by turned wooden posts. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the south on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. There is an addition (unknown construction date) to the rear with plywood siding.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The first water permit was taken out in 1951. Leo Dorsey took out a water permit for this address at an unknown date. Mrs. Hazel Monroe, a maid at Lucy Davis Apparel Shop, lived at this residence from approximately 1963-81. The building style suggests an estimated construction date of 1910.

2Y. Located on a small lot at the south edge of a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Ernest Williams lived at this address in 1949. Mrs. Leah W. Wallace (widow of Junior R. Wallace) lived at this address from approximately 1963-81. No water permits were available for this address. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1890. Although greatly altered in appearance, it is one of the few "shotgun" type residences in the survey district.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A small shed is located to the south of the property.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on in 1935, but the building style suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. A water permit was taken out by W.N. Cuthbertson at an unknown date: Cuthbertson, a white instructor at William Jewell who owned and rented out a number of houses in Liberty (his or his wife's name appears on several water permits). Ursa Mae Morley, a maid, lived at this address from approximately 1969-81. Although altered, it is one of the few "shotgun" representatives in the survey district.

	Gantt, Clarence E., House	Clay	334 Prairie

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. This residence was home for more than thirty years to Clarence E. Gantt, the first principal of Garrison School during the 1930s. Telephone and city directories indicate that he lived there during the period that spanned 1945-66; no directories exist for the period from 1930-44. Water was turned on at this address in 1926, but the building style suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. The front porch was added at an unknown date. It is a good representative of a pyramidal roof house, which retains some original classically inspired detailing.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. There is a cedar tree blocking view of the front facade.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on in 1948. The original residents, Russell and Lovey Houston, still live at this address. Mr. Houston, a laborer at Henry Wurst, is related to the Houstons who settled in Clay County in 1844 and have remained prominent in the African-American community in Liberty. The house is representative of post-WWII construction.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The locally significant tree is located in the front yard.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on at this address in 1938. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1890. John (who apparently died in the 1970s) and Lucy E. Colley lived here from approximately 1949-94. It has retained much of its integrity in spite of siding alteration; the asbestos siding itself is probably of historic vintage. The coloring of the siding includes a false "shadow" line to give the appearance of clapboards.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A church parking lot is located to the south.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. The house was moved here from a site on S. Prairie Street, probably in 1939, to make room for the construction of the Franklin Elementary School. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. Thomas M. and Luetta Meister lived here from approximately 1963-94. Mr. Meister owned Tommy's Hauling. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos, a pyramidal roof and a three quarter length shed roof porch supported by wooden posts is centered on the main facade. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the north on the main facade. There is a 1/1 double-hung window left of the front door, and a large single pane window flanked by narrow 1/1 windows to the right. A small carport is attached to the south facade. 2Y. T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Water was turned on at this address in 1951, but the style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. Lawrence L. Perry, a laborer at Englander Mattress, lived at this address from at least 1963-64, and is also said to have operated a convenience store (possibly at this address).

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A small metal shed is located behind the property, and a white picket fence surrounds the front and back yards.

T. This house is on an outlot in part of the Original Town of Liberty, platted in approximately 1823. Sam M. and Mercedes Walls lived at this address from approximately 1960-84. Mr. Walls was a receiving clerk at Englander Mattress. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1900. It is one of several examples of a double-pen vernacular housing type.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in Michael Arthur's Second Addition, which was platted in 1870. On the 1914 Atlas the lot is not named. The house appears on the 1924 Sanborn map; this section of Liberty is not covered in earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on in 1944, but the building style suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1900. This address does not appear in the 1929 or 1945-49 telephone directories. Mrs. Sallie Parks and James E. Gantt lived here at different dates during the 1960s. 2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete block foundation, clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and a small, flat roofed porch centered on the main facade. The porch roof is supported by two square posts decorated with a jig-sawn millwork frieze. The main entrance is located in the east bay of the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. An addition to the home projects from the northeast corner, as well as to the rear. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. On the 1924 Sanborn map the address is listed as 545. This section of Richfield Road was not covered in the earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on in the house in 1946, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. The original full front porch was removed and the current metal-roofed porch added post-1924. Past residents at this address include Perry Thompson, 1929, and Ralph and Willeana Waller, from approximately 1949-79. Mr. Waller was a service manager at Clay Co. Implement. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, multi-colored asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a central porch. The porch's metal roof is supported by two decorative iron posts. The main entrance is located off-center to the west on the main facade. Paired double-hung windows are set in the shed roofed dormer centered in the roof line of the main facade. A large picture window is located in the east bay, and a small double hung window is set in the west bay of the main facade. 2Y. 	Capps, William House	Clay	551 Richfield Rd.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The lot appears on the 1914 Atlas but bears no name. It also appears on the 1924 Sanborn Map as 541; this section of Richfield Road was not covered on earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on at this address in 1934, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1915. The full front porch shown on the 1924 Sanborn map was replaced by the current Craftsman-style porch, which was probably constructed ca. 1925-30. William Capps lived at this address from approximately 1929-45; James L. and Kath Duncan lived here from approximately 1949-83; James Duncan, Jr. lived here from 1988-94.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A two car garage with front gable roof is located behind the home on the west side.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The lot appears on the 1914 Atlas but bears no name. A house appears at this site on the 1924 Sanborn Map, although the address is given as 563, but it appears to be a different structure. This section of Richfield Road was not covered on earlier Sanborn maps. Water was turned on at this address in 1942, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. The address was not listed in the 1929 telephone directory. Oleda Clarkston lived at this address in 1949, possibly until 1954, when she may have married William C. Anderson. William C. and Oleda (or Oleta) Anderson lived at this address from approximately 1954-66. Mrs. Anderson is said to have at one time been an owner of the Wiggle Inn night club. The current residents are white. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard and brick siding, a bell-cast pyramidal roof, and a stoop porch. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Large picture windows flanked by small double-hung windows fenestrate the outer bays. The lower quarter of the main facade is clad in brick, in what was probably a front porch that was enclosed at an unknown date. There is an external brick chimney raises through the roof line on the west facade. A hipped roof dormer with three short, single pane windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. 2Y. Located on a large open lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A drive on the west leads to parking in the rear. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. On the 1914 Atlas the current lot did not have its current boundaries, but rather was part of the larger D.W. Creek lot. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. Water was turned on at this address in July 1948, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1920. The address is not listed in the 1929 telephone directory. B.H. Shubert apparently owned and rented out this house at one time, for he is listed on water permits for this and four other houses on the block. 2X. This larger, one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, aluminum siding, a side-gable roof and small portico located in the far east bay of the main facade. The porch's gable-front roof is supported by two square wooden posts. The main entrance is located directly under the porch roof on the main facade. Double-hung windows with multi-light upper sashes are located in the central and western bays of the first story and paired double-hung windows are centered in the two large, evenly spaced, gable wall dormers of the upper story. There is a secondary entrance on the east elevation, which is enclosed and has a gable roof. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A concrete and gravel drive is on the east, and there is a small shed to the rear of the lot. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. In 1914 the lot belonged to Clay Pearley and extended north to the railroad tracks near East Mill Street. The current house appears to be different from the L-shaped house shown on the 1924 Sanborn map. Water was turned on in 1928. William L. and Ruth Stephenson lived at this address from approximately 1929-81. It is an intact example of a vernacular Craftsman-influenced bungalow.

2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a pyramidal roof, and a full porch. The main roof line extends over the porch and is supported by large wooden posts. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the west on the main facade. Paired double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A hipped roof dormer with three, short double-hung windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade.

2Y. Located on a large open lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. In 1914 the lot was part of a larger lot owned by Peter Clay. Water was turned on at this address in 1928. Ernest Brimer lived at this address from at least 1945-49. B.H. Shubert apparently owned and rented out this house, for he is listed on water permits for this and four other houses on the block. The bungalow is virtually identical to its neighbor on the east. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a pyramidal roof and a full porch. The main roof line extends over the porch and is supported by square wooden posts. The porch balusters are simple square posts, and the open porch foundation is covered with wood latticework. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the east on the main facade. Double-hung windows flanked by decorative shutters are centered in the outer bays. There is a small shed roof addition to the rear. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. On the 1914 Atlas this lot was subdivided into two smaller, unnamed lots and comprised part of a third larger lot owned by Jacobs (no preceding initials). This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. The address was not listed in the 1929 or 1945-49 telephone directories. Water was turned on in 1953, but the style of the house suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1940. According to the water permits, F. Newton lived at this address at an unspecified date during the period of the 1930s-1950s. B.H. Shubert apparently owned and rented out this house, for he is listed on water permits for four other houses on this block. 2X. Although the address for this home is on Richfield Road, the home actually faces Vernon. This one-story home has a concrete block foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a small, awning porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. The double-hung windows, some single and some grouped, have metal awnings on the west and south elevations. 2Y. T. This house is located in Suddarth Place, which was platted in 1890. On the 1914 Atlas the current lot did not exist with its present boundaries, but was part of a lot that was twice as wide. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. Water permits could not be found for this address. The house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. This address was not listed in the telephone or city directories. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a limestone foundation, clapboard siding, a bell-cast pyramidal roof and a full porch. The porch's shed roof is supported by three rounded wooden columns. The two main entrances are located side by side in the center of the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A hipped roof dormer with two double-hung windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. The house is nearly identical to 607 Richfield Road. 2Y. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas the lot is owned by Helmon (no preceding initials). Water was turned on at this address in 1916, but the house style suggests an earlier estimated construction date of 1900. A long-time resident believes that "Jeff" Helmon lived here until his death in the 1940s. Don and Florence Wymore have lived at this address from 1942-95. Changes to the house include the enclosure of both porches, a basement dug under the existing foundation, and the addition of a bedroom. The owner believes these alterations were made in the 1940s-50s. 2X. This irregular plan, one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard and board and batten siding, and a cross gable roof. The main entrance is located inside the enclosed porch on the south west corner of the main facade. Multi-light windows fenestrate the south and west facades. A projecting bay is located under the gable wall of the south facade. The front gable end, as well as the area above the bay's windows, is clad with patterned decorative wood shingles. An addition to the home extends on the north end of the west facade. 2Y. Located on a large lot in a residential district; an outbuilding at the rear of the lot has been converted to a residence. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in Rohr's Addition, which was platted in 1961 and consists of only six lots. On the 1914 Atlas the section on which the current lot is located was part of the northern section of a larger lot owned by Helmon (no preceding initials). This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. The house is located on the north portion of the lot containing 604 Richfield Road. It was originally a milk house; the previous owners had sold milk. The current owners, Don and Florence Wymore of 604 Richfield Road, converted the milk house into a residence shortly after moving into 604, in 1942. The house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1920 or earlier. 2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, board and batten siding, a hipped roof, and no porch. The main entrance is located in the central bay of the main facade. A double-hung window is set in the west bay, and a multi-light window is located in the east bay. 2Y. This former outbuilding is located at the rear of a small lot in a residential district which contains the "original" house. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. 	607 Richfield Rd., House	Clay	607 Richfield Rd.
T. This house is located in Suddarth Place, which was platted in 1890. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas the current lot did not exist with its present boundaries, but was part of a lot that was twice as wide. Water permits could not be found for this address, but it appears that 607 may have at one time been listed as 605: the water permits indicate that water was turned on in 1913 at 605 Richfield Road -- an address that no longer exists, but is described as being on the east half of Lot 1, the same lot as 607 Richfield Road. The house style also suggests an estimated construction date of 1913. Rothwell E. and Nadine W. Hudlemeyer lived at this residence from approximately 1949-94. 2X. This one-and-one-half-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, a bell-cast pyramidal roof and a full porch. The porch's shed roof is supported by three rounded wood columns. The main entrance is located off-center to the west on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A hipped roof dormer with two double-hung windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. An addition extends the rear. The house is nearly identical to 603 Richfield Road. 2Y. Located on a large open lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. 	Price, House	Clay	612 Richfield Rd.
T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas this lot was owned by Price (no preceding initials). Past residents include Mrs. Willis Bagby, 1929; Frank Carter, 1945; and Ralph H. Cruse, 1949. No water permits were found for this address. The house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1890. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a cross-gable roof and a wrap around porch. The main entrance is located within an intersecting wall on the east facade. The wrap-around porch has a hipped roof supported by turned wooden posts decorated with ornate millwork. Most doors and windows are boarded up. 2Y. Located on a large corner lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The view of the house is blocked by vegetation. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in Suddarth Place, which was platted in 1890. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. The lot is shown on the 1914 Atlas but is not named. Water was turned on at this address in 1908. Estill E. Hurt lived here in 1929, and W.A. Crum from at least 1945-49.

2X. This large, irregular plan, two-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a small portico on the east end of the main facade. The portico's gable front roof has end returns, a trellis-like frieze, and decorative iron posts. The main entrance is located in the east bay. Tall, narrow double hung windows are paired in the first story of the gable front bay, with bracketed, decorative panels beneath the sills. A single window is centered in the gable wall on the second story. A wooden staircase on the east facade leads to a secondary entrance on the upper story.

The lot is shown on the 1914 Atlas but is not named. Water was turned on at this address in 1908. Carl L. Massie and L. DeVaul took out water permits at this address at undetermined dates, probably during the 1940s-60s. It was probably identical at one time to 627 Richfield Road. 2X. This T-plan, one story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a cross gable roof with returns and a small screened porch on the northeast corner of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by wooden posts. The main entrance is located in the east bay. A large, square picture window divided into sixteen lights is centered in the lower story of the front facing gable wall. The west elevation retains original tall, narrow 1/1 double-hung windows. A brick chimney raises from the center of the roof line. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. T. This house is located in Suddarth Place, which was platted in 1890. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. The lot is shown on the 1914 Atlas but is not named. Water was turned on at this address in 1908. Mrs. John Archer lived at this address from approximately 1929-49. It was probably identical at one time to 621 Richfield Road. 2X. This T-plan, one-and-one-half-story home has a concrete foundation, vinyl siding, a cross gable roof with boxed returns and a wrap around porch. The porch's hipped roof wraps 180 degrees around the projecting front gable wall and is supported by wooden posts. The main entrance is located in the west bay. Double-hung windows are evenly spaced on all facades. A concrete block chimney raises from the crook in the north west corner. Most of the windows have been replaced. There is a gable roof addition on the rear. 2Y. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. This portion of Richfield Road was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 the lot comprises the southern portion of a lot owned by Staggs (no preceding initials). No water permits were found for this address, and it was not listed in the 1929 or 1945 telephone directories. Ray W. and Mary Shubert lived at this address from approximately 1949-65. Mr. Shubert was a maintenance man for Curry Real Estate in Kansas City. The house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. 2X. This 1½ story home has a concrete foundation, permastone siding, a pyramidal roof and a full porch. The main roof line extends over the porch and is supported by square wooden posts. The two main entrances are located side by side in the center of the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A hipped roof dormer with two short single pane windows is centered on the roof line of the main facade. 2Y. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The 1913 Sanborn map shows a vacant lot for this address and the 1924 map shows what appears to be the current house (although listed as 216). At that date it featured a full-width front porch. No water permits or telephone directory listings were found for this address. A long-time Liberty resident recalls that the Gantt family lived at this address in approximately the 1940s. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1915.

2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, a pyramidal hipped roof and a small, patio porch. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the east on the main facade. Double-hung windows flanked by decorative shutters are centered in the outer bays. An addition with a shed roof and secondary entrance is set back from the main facade on the east facade. A small brick chimney is centered in the roof line. Wood ramps lead to both the front door, and the secondary entrance on the addition.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A cemetery is located across the street to the south.

T. This structure is located in the New Liberia subdivision, which was platted in 1888. The 1929 and 1945-49 telephone directories do not list the church. A long-time resident noted that the church was referred to as the Humphrey Temple after Rollie Humphrey, who helped to build it. It is also colloquially referred to as the "Holy Roller" church. This building was listed as 211 until approximately 1981. Almost nothing has been written about this church. A building appears on the 1913 and 1924 Sanborn maps; from the Sanborns, it appears as if a front porch was removed c. 1920, and the rear addition was constructed post-1924.

2X. This one-story church has a concrete foundation, concrete block walls, and a front-gable roof. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows flank the single wood entry door, which is reach by three concrete steps. Plywood covers the gable wall on the main facade, where a cross is located. A small tower extends from the center of the roof line. There is an interior chimney on the east elevation, and a shed roof, concrete block addition to the rear.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district. A house is located to the west, a school it to the north, and a non-historic commercial building is located to the east.

T. This house is located in the New Liberia subdivision, which was platted in 1888. In the 1930s-40s this structure housed a restaurant operated by Henry and Maggie Pearley, who lived in the house behind the restaurant building. The restaurant was famous for its ice cream, which was bought by white residents as well. The restaurant closed in the 1950s, when Mr. Pearley died. The lot adjacent and behind this property at one time featured a public croquet court and a tennis court in the 1930s-40s. Nationally famous African-American tennis players played matches on this court. The lot was also used for African-American community events, such as fish fries and carnivals during this period. The structure does not appear on the 1924 Sanborn map. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. The house stood vacant from approximately the 1960s-1983.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A large gable-front barn or shed, another shed or smokehouse and a root cellar are located behind the property. A church is located to the east of the property, and a school is to the north.

	Pearley, H. and M., House	Clay	215 W. Shrader (in rear)
T. This house is located in the New Liberia subdivision, which was platted in 1888. Henry and Maggie Pearley lived in this residence in the 1930s-40s and owned the restaurant in front of the residence, according to their granddaughter. The latter also said that one of the house additions was built for Dr. Seymour Pearley's dentist office, who may have been the only African-American dentist in Liberty during the 1930s-40s. Marion Pearley, a maid, lived at the residence from approximately 1963-87. Pearley also practiced in Independence, MO. He is listed at 215 Shrader in the 1945-49 telephone directories. The 1924 Sanborn map shows a different structure at this address. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1930. The smokehouse behind this residence may be the only remaining smokehouse in Liberty. A hog lot once operated on this site, and the homeowners hired men to shoot and slaughter the hogs, which were then hung up in the smokehouse. 2X. This small, L-shaped, one-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a three-quarter length porch on the north end of the main facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by square wooden posts. The main entrances are evenly spaced and centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays and between the doors. An apparent addition to the home has a front gable roof and extends from the from the south facade. 2Y. T. This house is located in the New Liberia subdivision, which was platted in 1888. It appears on the 1913 and 1924 Sanborn maps, but no water permits or telephone listings (1929, 1945-49) were found for this address. The style of the house suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. A number of residents have lived in this house. Sherman and Betty J. Dorsey lived here from approximately 1963-65. Mr. Dorsey was a cook at the county jail.

2X. This one-story home has a limestone foundation, clapboard siding, a side-gable roof and a small, gable-front, awning porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Two double-hung windows are centered in the east bay and a single double-hung window is centered in the west bay. There is a gable roof addition to the rear, also with clapboard siding.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The 1913 Sanborn map shows a vacant lot; this section of W. Shrader was not covered in the 1924 Sanborn map. Water was turned on at this address in 1943, but the style of the house suggests an earlier construction date. Mrs. Opal I. Gregory (widow of Charles Gregory) was a resident from approximately 1960-94. Formerly identical to the adjoining building, the two homes may have been constructed at the same time.

2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, clapboard siding, an intersecting gable roof and a one-half length porch on the south end of the east facade. The porch's shed roof is supported by a single chamfered wood post. The main entrance is centrally located in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in gable walls of the main and east facades.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A single car metal car-port is located to the west of the home and an outbuilding of undetermined use is located behind the house. A cemetery is located across the street to the south.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. Suddarth Street was not covered in the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. According to the 1914 Atlas, the lot for this address was owned by Cossairt (no preceding initials). Water was turned on at this address in 1924. Frank G. Bishop lived at this address in 1929. Mrs. Iva Burton, a seamstress at Betty Rose, lived there from approximately 1954-87. The style of the house indicates an estimated construction date of 1915. 2X. This one-story, L-shaped home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting flat-top hip roof and half length porch on the north side of the main facade. The main entrance is centrally located in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by a single rounded column resting on a short brick pier. Paired, double-hung windows are located in the south bay and a single double-hung window is set in the north bay. An addition to the northwest corner consists of a side gabled one car garage and secondary entrance. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A gravel drive leads to the attached garage in the rear. A brick pier topped with a planter marks one edge of the drive. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. Suddarth Street was not covered in the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. According to the 1914 Atlas, the lot for this address was owned by Goodwin (no preceding initials). Water was turned on at this address in 1914. Mrs. Della Archer lived here from approximately 1960-69.

2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof with returns and a one-half length porch on the east south of the main facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by two round wood columns resting on brick piers. The main entrances are centrally located at angles to each other in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. A tripartite bay projects from the center of the gable wall on the south facade.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A large gable front two car garage is located behind the house to the south.

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. Suddarth Street was not covered in the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot for this address was owned by Archer (probably U.C. Archer). Mrs. U.C. Archer and James W. and Ercell Huston both lived at this address from at least 1945-49. The Hustons both lived there until about 1960, when Mr. Huston died. Mrs. Huston, who was a clerk at Boggess & Son Hardware, continued to live in the house until at least 1977. The style of the house indicates an estimated construction date of 1910.

2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a pyramidal roof and a 3/4 length shallow hipped roof enclosed porch centered on the main facade. The main entrance centered on the main facade. There is a rear addition, also with asbestos siding.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A small wooden shed or garage is located behind the house on the south side.

T. This house is located in the Suddarth Place subdivision, which was platted in 1890. Suddarth Street was not covered in the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot for this address was unnamed. Water was turned on at this address in 1947, but the style of the house indicates an estimated construction date of 1915. Grover C. and Carol Wilson lived at this address from approximately 1959-63. Mr. Wilson was a mechanic for Dealers Transport.

2X. This larger, one-and-one-half-story home has a limestone foundation, plywood paneling and rolled sheeting siding, a front-gable roof and small central bay porch. The porch's shed roof is supported by two small square wooden posts. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the south on the main facade. Paired double-hung windows are located in the north bay of the first story and are centered in the gable wall of the upper story. A single double hung window is set in the south bay of the first story, main facade. A large gable wall dormer clad in rolled asphalt siding is centered on the south facade.

2Y. Located on a moderate sized lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. A front-gable two car garage is located behind the house on the south side. A rail line is at the rear of the lot, and a small light industrial district is to the south.

T. This house is located in the Suddarth Place subdivision, which was platted in 1890. Suddarth Street was not covered in the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. On the 1914 Atlas, the lot for this address was unnamed. Water was turned on at this address in 1944. This address was not listed in the 1929 or 1945-49 telephone directories. Abe I. and Helen Gatton lived at this address from approximately 1954-84 (Mrs. Gatton was widowed about 1981). Mr. Gatton was a cement worker.

2Y. Located on a larger lot at the edge of a residential district. A railroad line is at the back of the lot; a small, light industrial district is to the south.

	112 Vernon, House	Clay	112 Vernon

T. This house is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. Vernon Street was not covered on the 1883-1924 Sanborn maps. The lots on this block of Vernon Street were subdivided differently in 1914; what is now this lot was part of a larger lot owned by Clay Pearley. No water permits or telephone directory listings were found for this address, indicating that the house was built post-1949. The house style also suggests an estimated construction date of 1950. Bert H. Shubert, Sr., retired, lived at this address from approximately 1963-69.

2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction.

T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was unnamed. Water was turned on at this address in 1945, but the house style suggests an estimated construction date of 1910. Helen and Egbert Vertrees (or Vertrease) lived at this address in the 1960s. 2X. This small, one-story home has a concrete foundation, asbestos siding, a side-gable roof and a small, shed roofed porch centered on the main facade. The roof of the screened-in porch is supported by square wood posts on square piers. The main entrance is centrally located on the main facade. Double-hung windows are centered in the outer bays. A small chimney is centered in the roof line. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. T. This house is located in the Bird & Glasgow Addition, platted prior to 1877. On the 1914 Atlas the lot was unnamed. Lucretia Robinson is said to have taught the second black school in Liberty in this residence. Water was turned on at this address in 1942, but the Robinsons lived here as early as 1929. The front porch was added at an unknown date. Son Henry continued to live in the house until approximately 1954. Robert and Louise Pearley lived at this address from approximately 1954-93. Mr. Pearley was a machine operator at Englander Mattress. Helen Pearley lived in the house in 1994. 2X. This one-story home has a concrete foundation, metal siding, a side-gable roof and a three-quarter length shed roof porch located off-center to the north on the main facade. The porch is supported by simple square wood posts, and has square wood balusters. The main entrance is located slightly off-center to the south on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set at varying heights, all under the porch's roof. There is a flat roofed addition to the rear, also with metal siding. 2Y. Located on a small lot at the bottom of a steep ravine in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The homes in this area are located below street grade; there is an access road leading down from N. Main in front of this group of residences. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. Lem and Leona Mitchell lived at this address from approximately 1945-69 (from 1954 on, only Mrs. Mitchell lived here). 2X. This L-shaped, one-story home has a limestone foundation, asbestos siding, an intersecting gable roof and a wrap-around porch located in the crook of the "L" on the main facade. The porch's hipped roof is supported by three square wooden posts. The main entrances are centrally located at angles to each other in the "L" on the main facade. Double-hung windows are set in the outer bays. There is an addition to the rear, reached by a raised deck porch on the south. 2Y. Located on a small lot in a residential district among homes of similar construction. The homes in this area are located below street grade; there is an access road leading down from N. Main in front of this group of residences. The former Garrison school is located to the north. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO. 	Garrison School	Clay	502 N. Water
T. This structure is located in a section designated as a City Block in the city's legal description. The original Garrison School, a three-room structure, was built in 1880 on this site. After this building burned in approximately 1911 the current building was constructed. The east addition was constructed c. 1940. Garrison School was the sole school for African-Americans until desegregation. In 1953 the Board of Education voted to close the high school section of Garrison School and transport students to Lincoln High School in Kansas City. After desegregation, the building was remodeled and used exclusively as a kindergarten. In the early 1980s it served as City Hall until the new City Hall was completed in 1982. Published histories on the school are few and sketchy; more primary resource research is necessary to give a fuller picture of Garrison School's significant role in the African-American community. The building presently serves as the Ozanam-Liberty Northland Cooperative. 2X. This one- and two-story school has a limestone foundation, brick walls, and a flat tar and gravel roof. There are two entrances to the older portion of the building: both centrally located--one on the south facade and one on the east. The south entry has been altered. The east entry has a one story, one bay wide projection with flat roof, which contains wood double entry doors and a concrete lintel above a glass transom. A ribbon of three triple-pane windows are set in the outer bays of the original building. Now connected to the addition by a short brick passageway, the newer two story north portion of the building is fenestrated throughout by evenly spaced triple-pane windows. The main entrance to the addition is centrally located on the east facade. 2Y. Located at the north edge of a residential district on a hill overlooking Liberty's downtown to the north. There is an asphalt parking lot on the south side of the building., as well as on the east. A concrete retaining wall with iron rails is on the east side of the oldest portion of the building. The remainder of the lot has mature shade trees. 2Z. Black History Files, Clay County Archives and Historical Library, Liberty, MO.
