MO State Parks celebrate Union Covered Bridge's 150-year anniversary

Junior Hulén, of Madison, speaks with Park Superintendent Rachel Hoemann during the Union Covered Bridge's 150th Anniversary on September 6 in rural Monroe County.

The Union Covered Bridge celebrated its 150-year anniversary on Monday, September 6. Residents from all over the State gathered together during the afternoon to observe the surviving real-life artifact and historical landmark in Monroe County. Missouri State Parks served refreshments which included cupcakes and water for those in attendance, which saw approximately 126 guests. Park Superintendent Rachel Hoemann, of Mark Twain State Park and Birthplace Historic Site, stated, "Lots of folks yesterday were sharing their stories and it was great to hear them."

There were educational boards available for guests to read and learn about the Union Covered Bridge's history. Families were seen walking throughout the site, gazing at the skill and design of the arched wood on the bridge and splashing in the water below.
