42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, four bay, brick fourplex built ca. 1915. The building has a brick and concrete foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of stretcher bond brick. On the main facade is a one-story full width shed porch with square brick piers and a solid brick railing. On the main facade are two primary entrances which have original glass and wood doors and concrete lintels. Windows are original 1/1 rectangular wood sash with the upper light divided into various vertical panes with triangular muntin bars* Each window has a concrete sill and lintel. In the central bay of the building are small single light windows with triangular lights. Connecting the sills on the second story window is a band of yellow glazed brick which extends on all four sides of the building. At the eaves are large knee brace brackets and exposed eave rafters. At the roofline are small gable attic dormers with diamond light windows and knee brace brackets. At the rear is an attached shed roof garage of frame construction.

43. History and Significance: This residence was built ca. 1925 as a fourplex apartment unit. Its original design remains intact.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building is located in a residential area on a rectangular urban lot.

42. FURTHER DESCRIPTION OF IMPORTANT FEATURES This building has usual slick clay tile/brick on the front because at the time brick was unavailable. This tile is only found in a few other buildings in Poplar Bluff. The building has an addition to the front in the form of a metal awning. In 1950, an east section of painted concrete block was added to the original building. Prior to this, in 1938, a south room was added.		PHOTO MUST BE PROVIDED
43. HISTORY AND SIGNIFICANCE This building was built in 1926 by Roy Caldwell as a dry cleaning establishment. The building was partially damaged in the 1927 tornado. The front of the building was damaged and rebuilt in 1927. This work was done by Doug Scott. In 1938, the Caldwell's added a south room. This work was done by a Mr. Bradley. This room was used for fur storage and alterations. In 1950, the Caldwells added the east room. The builder was Mr. Lee Deal and Sons. This room of concrete block was used for the dry cleaning process. Chemicals were stored there. Presently, this building is being purchased by VFW Post 6477. Historically, this business of Caldwell Cleaners has been an active part of Poplar Bluff's economy and part of the business landscape in downtown Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: This industrial building is composed of three separate buildings constructed during the early 20th century. The original section appears to have been built ca. 1900 and is a one-story brick, three bay building. This building no longer retains its original doors and windows and these openings have been covered with plywood. The windows and door openings are arched with four courses of brick relief arching. Each bay is separated by a brick pilaster. The building rests on a concrete foundation and has a gable roof of concrete construction. Below the roofline are several rows of corbelled brick. To the north of this building is a one-story building of hollow core concrete block erected ca. 1915. This building also has had its door and window openings enclosed or covered with plywood. Its exterior wall surface is of hollow core concrete block with a rusticated finish. The main section of the complex is a one-story, 12 bay building of brick and concrete construction built ca. 1930. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof of rolled roofing and exterior of five course common bond. On the main (w) facade is a one-story wing containing the main entrance. This entrance has been covered with plywood and the windows have also been covered with plywood. Over the windows are concrete cornices. At the roofline is a flat parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: This building was originally used as a power plant for the city and was operated by the Missouri Utilities Company later in the 20th century. The plant is presently vacant and the buildings are not used. It is one of the more prominent industrial buildings located adjacent to the Black River.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: At the south end of S. 2nd Street adjacent to the Black River.

Address: S. Second Street adjacent to Union Pacific Depot

42. Further Description of Important Features: This site consists of a cast concrete staircase which connected the depot area with buildings along S. Second Street. The staircase consists of double stairways which make quarter turns to a common landing. A large single stairway then extends to the street level..The stairs have square concrete newel posts, a large concrete railing, and balusters. At the street level is an original section of cast iron fencing.

43. History and Significance: The Iron Mountain Stairway was constructed ca. 1905 to provide pedestrian access from the depot to buildings along Second Street. Several major hotels were located on Second Street adjacent to the depot and this staircase was the major access point. The staircase is deteriorating but remains usable and intact.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This structure is located just to the west of the union Pacific Depot in the commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, rectangular plan, 6 bay commercial building constructed ca. 1917-1924. The building has altered storefronts on the main facade with glass and metal doors, bulkheads, and display windows added ca. 1970. The main entrance has a chamfered corner entrance and an original cast iron column is located at the corner. The original door has been replaced with a ca. 1970 metal and glass door. The upper facade retains its original design and above the storefront is a rectangular panel with decorative soldier and sailor brick coursing with concrete corner panels. The second story has six window bays with each bay containing a 12/2 rectangular sash wood window. The windows have original concrete sills and soldier course lintels. Between each window are rectangular panels of soldier and sailor brick coursing with inset diamond shaped concrete panels. In the central bay of the second story is a rectangular sign panel of recessed brick. Above the windows are several rows of soldier course brick. At the roofline is a flat parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: This commercial building was constructed ca. 1920 and retains its original upper facade detailing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular urban lot in a mixed commercial and residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, rectangular plan commercial building with three bays constructed ca. 1917-1924. The building has three separate storefronts divided by brick piers. The central storefront retains much of its original fabric including frame bulkheads, transom bar and three light transom. The original display windows and door opening have been covered with plywood. The north storefront also retains an original transom bar and bulkhead but the windows have been covered with plywood. The south storefront was remodeled ca. 1970 with metal and glass doors and display windows. The upper facade retains its original design and has rectangular panels of soldier and sailor brick coursing over each storefront. Above these panels is a belt course of soldier course brick. At the roofline is a stepped parapet with soldier course brick and concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: This one-story commercial building was constructed ca. 1920 and retains its original upper facade decoration.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular lot on the western edge of the commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story three bay, rectangular plan residence of stone construction built in 1884 by Luke F. Quinn. The house was built with Italianate influences and has a rear one-story frame ell. The house was altered ca. 1920 with a two-story Colonial Revival influenced porch. The house has a stone foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and interior end brick chimneys. On the main (E) facade is a two-story gable partial width porch with square Doric motif columns and a railing with square balusters. The porch rests on a foundation of rock faced hollow core blocks. The main entrance has an original wood four paneled door and over the door is a two light transom. Windows are original 1/1 and 2/2 rectangular wood sash set within segmental arches. Windows on the first story of the main facade have wood keystones and stone sills. In the gable field of the porch is an elliptical attic window. The exterior stone surface is an un-coursed rubble finish. On the second story of the main facade is a secondary entrance leading to the balcony. This entrance has an original wood paneled door. The rear ell has shiplap siding, a gable roof, 2/2 sash windows, and ca. 1920 glass and wood doors.

43. History and Significance: This residence is one of the oldest remaining in Poplar Bluff and retains much of its original design and detailing. The house was built with Italianate influences and is the only late 19th century residence of stone construction surveyed in Poplar Bluff. The house is sited on the hill to the west of the downtown area.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This residence occupies a rectangular urban lot in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame and stucco, four bay, Bungalow built ca. 1925. The house has a concrete foundation, hipped roof of asphalt shingles, and exterior of wire brick and stucco. On the main (N) facade is a partial width gable porch with rectangular brick and stucco piers and arched openings. The porch also has a solid frame and stucco railing. The main facade has two primary entrances both of which have original multi-light glass and wood doors. Windows are original 6/1 rectangular wood sash. On the east facade are two unusual porches which project from the first floor. Both are similar in design and show influences of Swiss Alpine detailing. The porches have square Doric motif columns, exposed eave rafters, a railing with square balusters, and large exposed purlins. On the main facade are decorative brick surrounds at the porch and corners of the residence and between the arches on the porch are inset terra cotta panels.

43. History and Significance: This residence is an unusual Bungalow plan and has interesting Swiss influenced porches on the east facade. The residence has not been altered and retains its original design.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular urban lot in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story brick, two bay, rectangular plan commercial building built ca. 1900. The building was originally divided into two separate storefronts but the north storefront has been covered with modern wood and metal panels. The south storefront retains much of its original design and has a chamfered corner entrance with a corner metal column and original double doors of single light wood and glass design. Above the doors is a large four light transom and flanking the doors are large single light sidelights. The storefront retains original glass display windows and transoms but the bulkheads have added wood paneling. Over the storefront is a ca. 1960 metal canopy. The upper facade retains an original corbelled brick cornice.

43. History and Significance: This commercial building was constructed in the early 20th century and appears to have been a grocery store and other shops which served the adjacent neighborhood. Although altered, it remains as a good example of a corner commercial store.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a corner lot at 9th and Maud Streets in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story frame, four bay, T-plan residence built ca. 1890. The house has a brick foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimneys, and weatherboard siding. On the main (E) facade is a partial width shed porch with original milled columns, railing with turned balusters, eave vergeboard and frieze with milled panels and drop pendants. Above the porch is a projecting gable with attached floral designs and eave vergeboard and spindles arranged in a sunburst design. The main facade has two primary entrances with ca. 1920 doors of multi-light glass and wood design. Windows are original 1/1 rectangular wood sash. On the projecting bay of the main facade is a small shed canopy over the windows with a wood shingled roof and eave brackets. The roof shingles are arranged in circular patterns. Above the window is a frieze board with floral and swag designs. In the gable field are attached floral patterns and eave vergeboard with milled panels and spindles in a sunburst design.

43. History and Significance: This residence displays some of the finest exterior milled decoration in Poplar Bluff. It is a simple T-plan design but has extensive milled panels and woodwork at the porch and eaves.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This house occupies a rectangular urban lot in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story frame, T-plan, two bay, Queen Anne influenced residence built ca. 1900. The house has a brick foundation, gable roof of asphalt shingles, interior brick chimney, and shiplap siding. On the main (E) and south facades is a one-story, partial width shed porch with ca. 1970 wrought iron columns and railing. The main entrance has an original single light glass and wood door with a single light rectangular transom. Windows are original 1/1 rectangular wood sash. On the main facade of the projecting bay is a one-story bay window with raised panels, eave brackets and shed roof with sawtooth wood shingles. This bay contains two 1/1 sash windows with the upper lights having diamond designs. A similar bay window is located on the north facade. Over the windows on the second story are small projecting wood canopies supported by circular wood brackets. At the roof eaves are large curved brackets. In the gable field of the main facade are sawtooth wood shingles.

43. History and Significance: This turn of the century residence is a good example of a Queen Anne influenced T-plan house. Its bay window designs are of particular interest.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This residence occupies a rectangular urban lot in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story concrete, asymmetrical plan, International style residence built ca. 1935. The house has a concrete foundation, exterior brick chimney, flat roof of rolled roofing, and exterior stucco finish. The house was built with an attached open garage on the south facade. On the main (E) facade is a small entry porch with a flat roof and original wrought iron column and railing. The main entrance is located on a small rectangular projecting bay on the main facade. The main entrance has a ca. 1970 wood paneled door. Adjacent to the door is a sidelight of structural glass blocks. Several other window openings on the main facade also contain structural glass blocks. In the central bay of the main facade on the second story is a large metal casement corner window. Other windows are 1/1 hinged metal design. At the roofline is a concrete coping which extends around the house.

43. History and Significance: This residence is the only notable example of a residential International style building in Poplar Bluff. The house retains its original architectural character and has not been significantly altered. The house was built by Herb Moore, who owned the Ford Agency. Dr. A.L. May is the current owner.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The house is sited on a rectangular urban lot in a residential section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: One-story, 6-bay frame rectangular plan commercial building constructed ca. 1917-1924. The main (N) facade has two separate storefronts which retain much of their original design and materials. The west storefront has original glass and wood double doors which are flanked by large display windows on frame bulkheads. Above the entrance and display windows are large transom lights which have been painted or covered with plywood. The east storefront has original glass and wood double doors above which is a three light transom. The entrance is flanked by large display windows resting on brick bulkheads added ca. 1960. Above each display window are three light transoms. Above the storefronts is an upper facade composed of metal stamped to resemble brick. At the roofline is a projecting bracketed metal cornice.

43. History and Significance: This one-story commercial building was constructed 1917-1924 and has not been extensively altered. Its original storefront and pressed metal exterior are notable features,

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building is located in a small commercial area on the east side of the Black River. It occupies a rectangular urban lot.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, rectangular plan, six bay vernacular commercial building constructed ca. 1910-1917. The building has a four bay storefront which was altered ca. 1970 into its present form. These alterations include added metal panels, metal and glass doors, wood panels in the display window openings and covered transoms. Brick bulkheads on the storefronts may be original. Dividing each storefront bay are Doric pilasters which have been covered with metal panels but the capitals are visible. Over the storefronts is a soldier course belt course. The upper facade has six bays with each containing paired 3/1 vertical sash wood windows. These windows share a common concrete cornice and a soldier course lintel. Above these windows is a full width wood cornice with large brackets and a shed roof of clay tiles. At the roofline is a flat parapet with terra cotta coping.

43. History and Significance: This commercial building has lost its original storefront but the upper facade retains its original design and detailing. It is located in a small early 20th century commercial area on the east side of the Black River.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular urban lot in a commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, five bay, rectangular plan commercial building constructed ca. 1930. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof of rolled roofing, and exterior of stretcher bond brick. The main entrance has a ca. 1960 metal and glass door but retains its original surround of structural glass blocks and recessed concrete panels. Flanking this entrance are bays with ca, 1960 glass and metal display windows which rest on concrete bulkheads. These bulkheads have excellent Art Deco incised detailing in floral, streamlined, and sunburst designs. Dividing each bay are brick piers with soldier course and diamond shaped brick decoration. The brick piers dividing the display windows have inset narrow bands of original purple Carrara glass. Above the display windows are soldier course lintels. Dividing the first and second stories is a row of header course brick. Window openings on the second story have original structural glass blocks which rest on concrete sills. At the roofline is a flat parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: A building appears on this site on the 1910 Sanborn map as a livery and on the 1917 Sanborn map as a garage. This building was probably built after 1928, the year a tornado destroyed much of the town. This commercial building is typical of Tapestry Brick designs of the early 20th century. However, it is embellished with fine Art Deco concrete panels on the storefront and represent the best expression of Art Deco decoration inventoried in the city. The building has not been extensively altered and retains its ca. 1930 design.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular urban lot in a commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story brick, five bay, rectangular plan commercial building constructed ca. 1900. The building has three separate storefronts which are divided by brick piers. All of the storefronts were remodeled ca. 1960-70 and have metal and glass display windows, doors, and bulkheads. The south bay has an original door opening which leads to a second story staircase. This door opening retains an original single light glass and wood door. Above the door is an enclosed transom. The second story retains five original window bays with each bay containing paired 1/1 rectangular wood sash windows. The windows are set within segmental arches which have three courses of brick relief arching. The windows also have stone sills. At the roofline is a corbelled brick cornice.

43. History and Significance: This two-story commercial building was constructed ca. 1900 and retains its original upper facade detailing.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building is located on a rectangular urban lot in the commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Three-story brick commercial building constructed in a rectangular plan ca. 1928. The building faces both Poplar and S. Broadway with storefronts on both facades. All of the storefronts have been altered although several retain original single light glass and wood doors. Most storefronts have added metal panels and display windows and enclosed transoms. The north storefront bay on the S. Broadway facade is the most original and has original brick bulkheads, single light glass and wood door and large single light display window. Dividing each storefront are brick piers with concrete bases. Dividing the first and second floors is a large cast concrete cornice and rows of soldier course brick. The upper two floors contain five bays of windows on the Broadway facade and three bays of windows on the Poplar facade. Each window bay is divided by a full height brick pilaster with concrete Doric capitals. The window openings have original concrete sills and soldier course lintels. The windows are 12-light industrial casement windows of metal. Between the windows are rectangular panels of decorative brick and concrete laid in diamond patterns. Above the third story windows are two concrete cornices and concrete panels inscribed "IOOF" and "KP." At the roofline is a stepped parapet with concrete coping.

43. History and Significance: This building appears to have been constructed ca. 1928 to house the local lodges of the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows. The building is shown from plans on the 1928 Sanborn Map.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: The building occupies a corner commercial lot at Poplar and S. Broadway.

Address: 200 Block N. Broadway/ Rodger's Theater

42. Further Description of Important Features: The Rodger's Theater is a two-story brick and concrete commercial building constructed ca. 1940. The building has a concrete foundation, flat roof of rolled roofing, and exterior of concrete and glazed yellow brick. The main facade is oriented towards the southwest corner and is dominated by a large elliptical metal and glass marquee. This marquee has floral design panels and signboards. Above the marquee is a metal ziggurat type tower with a metal finial at the roof. The main entrances have original paired double doors with circular glass lights. Adjacent to the entrance is a surround of black Carrara glass. In the west bay of the first story is a separate storefront with a ca. 1970 metal and glass door and Carrara glass surround. On the second story are metal panels arranged in an elliptical form. To the north along Broadway is a one-story wing which contains three separate storefronts. These storefronts have ca. 1970 metal panels and display windows.

43. History and Significance: The Rodger's Theater is a fine example of a mid-20th century movie theater and has Art Moderne influences. The building retains much of its original character and has not been altered. The building is still operated as a movie theater.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This building occupies a rectangular urban lot in a commercial section of Poplar Bluff.

42. Further Description of Important Features: Two-story, three-bay, concrete structure with a stucco exterior. The main entrance is on the corner of the building and the original door and windows were replaced ca. 1969 with plate glass windows and a metal and glass door. There is an original side entrance from Broadway that is a wood paneled door with a large glass light. There is a glass transom above the door. This door probably leads to second story stairs. The original windows have been filled in with concrete replaced with smaller metal-frame sash windows. The original storefront is hidden behind a corrugated metal front.

43. History and Significance: This commercial building was built ca. 1905 as one of the first buildings in Tully's Subdivision.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings: This structure occupies a rectangular urban lot in a commercial section of the city.
